Collecting, storing and grinding sprues, off-spec parts or scraps from extrusion, as it is still quite normal in many factories, is an unnecessary and dated interruption of the manufacturing process.

The beside-the-press granulators of Herbold Meckesheim GmbH are the logical link between waste disposal and production. Placed directly beside or under the production equipment in permanent operation, they save stock-keeping costs and personal expenses.

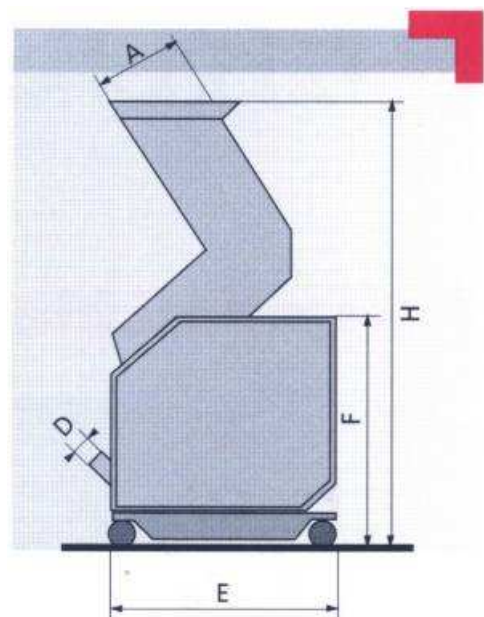

Specific feeding and disposal facilities for each application, and the large choice of accessories, allow to adapt the granulators to any production machine.
